Two Officers and 7 Enlisted Men 'Blown to Bits' In Wreck Near Denver.

PROBE CONDUCTED

Twin-Motored Curtiss One of Army's Latest Type of Bombing Planes.

DENVER —(U.P.)— Two officers and seven enlisted men were killed near here last night when a twin-motored army bombing plane crashed and exploded during a rainstorm, it was announced officially today. The men were "blown to bits," the report said.

Maj. A. L. Jewett, post adjutant of the army air corps technical school at Lowry field, announced officially nearly 12 hours after the crash occurred that all hands had died when the bomber went down during a rainstorm.

The plane was within a few miles of the home field when it crashed six miles south of Watkins, Colo.

The dead:

2nd Lieut. Wilbur A. Champagen, Denver, pilot.

2nd Lieut. Robert P. Schmidtchen, Vally Stream, Long Island, N. Y., co-pilot.

Sgt. Williiam McDearman, Lebanon, Tenn.

Sgt. Clarence L. Hobbs, Denver.

Sgt. Truman Fraser, McCrory, Ark.

Pvt. Claud Hutchinson, Denver.

Pvt. Charles Kelly, Texarkana, Ark.

Pvt. Weldon Bryson, Deport, Tex.

Sgt. Roy Adkins, Switz City, Ind.

Army officials were conducting an investigation of the crash and they refused to give out more information until the investigation is completed.

The big Curtiss, one of the army's latest type bombers, was believed to have crashed during a heavy rainstorm while attempting to return to the U. S. government's Lowry field air school.

The scene of the crash was at a barren, badlands point on the prairie south of Watkins, Colo., approximately 25 miles from Denver.

SHOWERS HELP

Crops Perk Up After Rain; Mercury Climbing.

Showers last night and warmer weather today brightened the crop prospects in the Mansfield area and heralded (Mansfielders hope) the return of normal summer temperatures.

The mercury rose to 76 yesterday and the low last night was 56 degrees, 19 above the record August reading of 37 Wednesday night. It was 70 at noon today.

Rainfall totaling .17 of an inch during the night was expected to help late crops, while the rise in temperature dispelled fears, temporarily at least, that frost is near at hand.

Clearing skies and slightly cooler weather were forecast for tonight. It will be fair Saturday, the weatherman predicted.

COWS SCARED

German Bombers Blamed For This Milk Production.

LONDON — (AP) — Farmer Charles James, of Barry, Wales, who argued that his cows gave thin milk because German bombs scared them, was acquitted today of selling milk deficient in butterfat.

When James was arrested last week he pleaded that he wasn't responsible for the milk. A commission was appointed to check up on his claims.

City Offer of Flying School Site Studied

Washington Flooded With Ohio Bids for Sites for Defense Plants.

Mansfield's offer of municipal airport facilities for a government aviation training center stood high on a list of proposals urging selection of Ohio communities as sites for new defense industries, it was reported today from Washington.

The city's bid, proposing the Mansfield port as the site for a military and civilian aviation training center was one of the first of a large number of offers flowing into the capital from Ohio municipalities.

Airplane plants are the most avidly sought after industrial prizes, dispatches from Washington said, with cities suggesting they have attractive sites or abandoned factories that would be useful.

Competing with Mansfield in proposing sites for the training centers and location of airplane factories are Piqua, Steubenville, Columbiana, Delphos and Paulding.

Mayor William J. Locke several weeks ago wrote the government offering airport facilities for a site for a training school for fliers. Officials of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical Association later went to the capital to interview officials on possibilities.

The Chamber of Commerce also took part in the drive for obtaining part of the defense expansion, sending letters to airplane manufacturers and airplane parts makers, citing Mansfield's location and other advantages.

Officials in Washington have also been asked to consider abandoned steel plants at Mingo Junction and the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce has advised that there are four idle factories there.

Officials, the dispatches said, are urging enthusiastic local groups to hold down their correspondence and to avoid coming to Washington, suggesting they approach regional procurement offices now being established.

It was announced in Columbus yesterday that an airplane parts factory will be built in addition to the $4,000,000 airplane plant at Port Columbus.

Accused Window Smasher to Face Court on Monday

An accused window-smashing burglar, Richard DeWitt, 21, of 165½ West Third street, will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court Monday for a preliminary hearing on charge of breaking and entering.

The charges were filed by Detective O. M. Krupp yesterday after DeWitt, confessed, police said, to breaking the window at the J. F. Orr Typewriter company, 136 Park avenue west on three occasions and stealing portable machines.

Officers said they had also cleared up three other window smashings which have occurred here in recent months, including the Bell Music store and the W. E. Jones furniture store, in which radios were stolen, and Shaw's drug store in which a model airplane motor was taken.

Confession was obtained, police said, after they searched the youth's room and found the radio taken from the Jones window. Officers said the youth had pawned the typewriters in Canton and Akron. They were in those cities today to recover the stolen machines.

COMPLETE NEW COURTS AT PARK

South Park-Maple Lake Group Pointing With Pride to Result of Its Efforts.

Two hundred South Park-Maple Lake Park association members saw what volunteer work could produce.

For approximately a year, the members have worked part-time filling in a swamp, doing grading work, rolling the ground and planting stakes and today they had their reward—six beautiful new clay tennis courts.

With Frank Glasgow, president and Gordon Schwan, secretary and treasurer of the association leading the way, the members started work last summer on the project.

Today they had the new courts ready for play. While finishing touches must be added, the courts are classed with the finest in the city.

To raise funds to help pay for the equipment, the association will stage a fiesta Thursday, Sept. 12. The fiesta will consist of tennis matches and free entertainment by Mansfield talent.

A highlight of the fiesta will be a tennis match between May-

Frank Beverstock, deputy registrar of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, announced today that 1941 drivers and chauffeurs licenses would go on sale at the Richland County Auto club, 56 North Mulberry street, Sept. 9.

The 1940 licenses will expire Sept. 30 and all drivers of motor vehicles must have their new licenses by Oct. 1, he said.

Beverstock also announced that all applicants for licenses under 21 years of age must be accompanied by their fathers or legal guardians when they apply at the office.

It is also required by the state bureau this year that all chauffeurs have new pictures for their licenses, he said.

The decision will be made during the next six weeks, at the conclusion of which a foot-high trophy will be awarded to the officer with the highest average score. A silver medal will go to the second place winner and a bronze medal will be presented to the third highest scorer.

CARS DERAILED

UPPER SANDUSKY —(U.P.)— Seven empty coal cars were derailed and telescoped on an eastbound Pennsylvania railroad freight train at suburban Mononcue today, tying up traffic for several hours until the westbound track could be cleared. The train crew escaped injury.

Posse of 50 Rounds Up Trio Who Stole Railroaders' Lunch

Taken from a Pennsylvania freight train at Attica, Seneca county, yesterday afternoon by a posse of nearly 50 men armed with clubs, three youths who escaped from the Apple Creek state hospital for mental patients were held in the Richland county jail today for hospital authorities

The youths, who gave their names as Chester Nelson and William Blunt, both 21, and Newell Palmer, 17, were taken into custody after they jumped off the train at Vernon Junction, grabbed two dinner buckets from section workers, and jumped back on the train again.

Marshal R. W. Chilcote of Attica organized the posse after he was notified by railroad detectives that the youths were on the train.

Nelson and Blunt told officers they are from Cleveland and Palmer said his home is in Caledonia. Blunt is colored. He and Nelson gave fictitious names when arrested, but later revealed their identity after authorities had contacted the hospital and learned of the escape.

The youths were fined $10 and costs each in municipal court this

Boy, 11, Attacked By 4 Dogs, Suffers Severe Injuries

Eleven-year-old Herman Rastelli, 76 Lily street, was confined to his home today suffering from what police said were "severe bites" on the arms and legs when attacked by four dogs yesterday while riding his bicycle.

Officers took the boy to a physician's office to get the wounds dressed after D. H. Hartman, R. D. 2, Perrysville, an employe at the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, drove the animals away.

The youth told police he was riding his bicycle on the Mansfield Asphalt company's driveway when the dogs attacked him, knocking him from the wheel.

Officers said two of the animals were owned by L. R. Newsome, colored, of 555 Central avenue, and a third by E. P. McKinney, 246 North Adams street.

County Dog Warden William Miller took the Newsome dogs to the county pound and police ordered McKinney to keep his dog tied up for 10 days.

F. D. R. OPPOSES ANY DELAY IN TRAINING PLAN

Declares Postponement Would Set Back Defense Work Year or Two.

HITS SLOW ACTION

Points Out Congress Still Talking About Subject Started June 20.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt said today that he was personally and absolutely opposed to postponement of compulsory military training until next year.

The president told a press conference that new increments of man power were needed now to learn to use modern fighting equipment that already is on hand.

To put off actual drafting of men, he said, would delay the whole defense program a year or two.

Mr. Roosevelt said congress had been considering the subject since June 20 and still was talking about it. If a bill should not be enacted in the next couple of weeks, he added, there was going to be a real delay in the defense program.

Likening this program to the consistently winning Notre Dame football teams under the late Knute Rockne, the president asserted that if Knute had started a season with only nine prospective players instead of 44 men—or four full teams—he would not have had a winning team.

If the United States is invaded it wants to win, the chief executive said, adding that it was better to have a good team than none at all.

Pending in the senate as the president spoke was an amendment proposed to the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill by Senator Maloney (D-Conn) which would delay actual selection of men for active military service until Jan. 1, while a further trial was given for the volunteer system.

Meanwhile, the senate sent to the White House today legislation authorizing the president to call the national guard and army reserves to active duty for any period of 12 consecutive months.

The chamber completed legislative action on the resolution by accepting without dissent a conference report previously approved by the house.

As finally enacted, the measure would make approximately 396,000 members of the guard, of-

Germans Start Aerial Attacks On Large Scale

British and Nazi Cannon Carry on Duel Across Channel at Long-Range; Few Casualties Caused By Raid But Damage Reported Extensive.

(By United Press)

LONDON—German time bombs, dropped in the war's first night raid on London suburbs, exploded today in peaceful residential areas on the outskirts of the great metropolis.

The delayed-action missiles were dropped in an attack that centered on three London suburbs last night. The German raiders, apparently picking a hole in the misty weather that has shielded Britain from large-scale air attack for nearly a week, dropped bombs that blasted a movie theater, a public hall, a bank, a saloon and a number of residences.

The attack was launched shortly after British and German cannon had duelled across the Straits of Dover in the battle of Britain's first long range artillery battle.

The cannon engagement was opened up by the Germans. Their guns, mounted on the French coast between Calais and Boulogne, started firing on the Dover cliffs.

In the early morning hours German airplane bombs, crashing into three London suburbs, had left homes and business premises in ruins and brought the thunder of anti-aircraft gun fire to the ears of people in central London for the first time in nearly a year of war.

Damage was extensive in all three suburbs but casualties were reported surprisingly light.

In many districts unaffected by the raid, people stood in the streets and watched the gun flashes from the anti-aircraft barrage and the beams of searchlights which caught raiding planes in the air, to send them scurrying for safety.

The raid marked a resumption of the blitzkrieg on Great Britain on a furious scale. German big guns had shelled the English coast last night and German planes, taking advantage of bright moonlight, had heavily bombed wide areas of England and Wales.

There had been German raids by daylight in the London balloon barrage area Aug. 15, 16 and 18. This one came in the actual suburbs and by night. However, it was many miles from the center of the city—half an hour's ride by taxicab at the nearest point to the west end.

One fatality was reported, and that was indirect. A 67-year-old man collapsed on his way to an air shelter, and died.

Flying glass caused most injuries.

A big bomb split open the strong room of a bank but demolition squads quickly picked up the contents.

A movie theater was struck and an adjoining public hall was demolished.

The German did not have it all their own way. For hours, Royal Air Force planes blasted the German gun positions which had been betrayed by the flashes. Flares and traced shells could be seen, and great red glows, one in the sky, the other low down on the waterline, lit the French coast.

People on the shore could see British planes bombing the Calais

READY: British and Italian Fleets Anticipate Greek War

(By United Press)

ATHENS—British and Italian war fleets were reported cruising off Crete today in anticipation of an Italian move against Greece.

The report was unconfirmed, but it was understood that the ministry had received a report from the police chief of Cerigotto island, 20 miles northwest of Crete, of an engagement between planes thought to be Italian and British warships.

The engagement was described as heavy and as having lasted for two hours.

King George, Gen. John Metaxas, who is minister for war, aviation and navy as well as premier; the under secretaries for foreign affairs, war, aviation and navy and Gen. Alexander Papagos, chief of the general staff, met at the foreign office today and were understood to have discussed new Italian troop concentrations on the Albanian frontier of Greece.

The foreign office denied reports that Italy had made any demand on Greece to renounce the guarantee of its safety which Great Britain had given it.

There seemed some doubt such a demand would be made on the ground that now that Britain and Italy were at war, Britain would

MOMENTOUS: Cabinet Takes Up Destroyer Aid Problems

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Momentous problems of American foreign policy involved in proposals to transfer old destroyers to Great Britain and lease of naval and air base sites in British western hemisphere possessions were expected to be taken up this afternoon at President Roosevelt's cabinet meeting.

The president blocked all questions on these subjects at his press conference this morning. He told newsmen at the outset that he would save them work by advising them that there was no news so far on the destroyers or the bases.

The cabinet meeting was scheduled for 2 p. m. EST and among those present will be four members who have held interdepartmental conferences on those subjects.

President Roosevelt noted that the joint Canadian-United States defense board would hold its first session Monday.

Ordinarily reliable sources have indicated that decisions, at least on principle, have been reached on the destroyer and base problems.

Members of the joint defense board named by President Roosevelt last yesterday included Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York, a New Deal supporter and former World war flier.

Others were Lieut. Gen. Stanley D. Embick, commanding the fourth corps area at Atlanta; Capt. Harry W. Hill of the navy's war plans division, and Commander Forrest P. Sherman of the navy air arm and Lieut. Col. Joseph T. McNarney of the army air corps who will fill one place on the board jointly.

The other member and secretary of the American group is John D. Hickerson, a veteran of the diplomatic career service, and expert on Canadian affairs. He is currently assistant chief of the state department's division of European affairs.

Canadian members are O. M. Biggar, K. C.; Brigadier K. Stuart, deputy chief of the Canadian general staff; Capt. L. W. Murray, deputy chief of the naval staff; Air Commander A. A. L. Cuffe, air member of the air staff, Royal Canadian Air Force and Hugh L. Kennleyside, counselor of the department of external affairs.

Argentine Official Commits Suicide Over Scandal

RESIGNATION OF PRESIDENT NOT ACCEPTED

Vote of Confidence Planned By Deputies in Regime of Roberto Ortiz.

(By Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES—Victor Guillot, a member of the chamber of deputies, died today of what police said was a self-inflicted bullet wound, complicating an already critical internal political situation created by the resignation of President Roberto M. Ortiz.

Guillot's ouster from the chamber had been demanded by a committee investigating the El Palomar land deal in which the army is alleged to have paid five times the value of a piece of land for an airport. He was a member of the Radical (liberal) party. Police said he shot himself in the head with a pistol.

The president resigned because he said the committee report involved his honor without naming him.

Supporters of President Ortiz predicted a joint legislative assembly called for tomorrow afternoon would give their leader a vote of confidence, thus overriding his resignation and reaffirming his prestige in the eyes of the nation.

A preliminary canvass showed 123 of a possible total of 190 members favored a vote of confidence.

Ortiz, who delegated general executive powers to Vice President Ramon Castillo June 3 because of illness, submitted his resignation yesterday because a senate investigation into a high-priced army land purchase had "soiled my office" by attacking two of his cabinet members, although Ortiz himself was not named.

The first public show of the 54-year-old president's popularity was manifested last night by an impromptu parade to Ortiz' home, with marchers singing the national hymn and shouting demands he remain in office.

They then paraded to the war ministry, where they expressed their approval of War Minister Gen. Carlos Marquez.

Marquez and Finance Minister Pedro Groppo were the cabinet members charged by the senate committee with negligence under the budgetary laws in permitting the purchase of land for El Palomar airdrome at a price of about $612,000, which the committee asserted was five times its actual value.

Meanwhile, there were rumors Argentina's representative form of government might undergo changes if Ortiz' resignation were accepted. Ordinarily, his powers would go to Vice President Castillo, but some observers feared an at least temporary dictatorship might result.

Ortiz was elected to a six-year term in 1937 and inaugurated Feb. 20, 1938.

Two States Join Effort to Check Paralysis Spread

(By Associated Press)

Ohio and West Virginia medical authorities moved today to check a spread of infantile paralysis cases on both sides of the Ohio river as the two-state toll rose to 12.

Ohio marked up another death yesterday. Paul Colburn, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elza Colburn of near Waverly, Pike county, died soon after he was admitted to a Portsmouth hospital.

Physicians said the boy, the sixth to die in Ohio this month, had been ill three days. Ten active cases remain in Portsmouth and seven in rural section of Scioto county.

Logan county, W. Va., reports its 29th case. Cabell county (Huntington) alone has recorded 47 cases in the July-August period, and all but four have been in the city.

Dr. R. H. Markwith, Ohio health director, said that although 94 cases had been reported since June 10, the victims were scattered except for 23 in Scioto county. Many have been cleared up and the quarantines removed.

He said that the disease had not yet reached an epidemic state.

Of the 94 cases, 11 have been in Wayne county, 8 in Lawrence, 5 in Cuyahoga and 4 in Hamilton, and the rest in 29 other counties.

CONCENTRATED

LINCOLN, Neb. — Cupid must have been concentrating on Dorothys, mused county Judge Robin Reid as marriage licenses 643, 644, 645, and 656 were issued in a single day. The permits went to Dorothy Glantz, Dorothy Ray, Dorothy Venter, and Dorothy Ossenkop.

Bandits Hold Up Train, Take Mail Sack

HANDCUFF TWO CLERKS AFTER DARING CRIME

N. Y. Passengers Unaware of Robbery Until After Escape Made.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Six bandits held up a passenger train and robbed its mail car in New York City early today.

Three entered the mail coach, handcuffed two mail clerks to the steel frames supporting the sorting bags, demanded and received the bag of mail consigned to Yonkers, a suburb.

The other three held the conductor, the brakeman and another railroad employe, at bay in the rear coach. The engineer and firemen in the locomotive and the 30 passengers, including six women, didn't know of the hold up until the bandits had escaped.

It was believed that the bags contained a bank shipment or other registered matter of value of which the bandits had had advance knowledge but Chief Postal Inspector Doran said that a preliminary check of the bag's contents had been made and apparently it contained "nothing of value."

The hold-up occurred while the train was stopped in the Marble Hill station, in the extreme northern section of Manhattan borough of that name, not far from the New York City limits. The train was a local of the New York Central bound for Albany and way stops.

The clerks—Brooks Hall, Yonkers, and Louis Weiller, Long Island City, were not harmed, though it took a police emergency squad a half hour to file the handcuffs off their wrists. The bandits were brief and hard demanding at pistol point the Yonkers mail and slapping on the handcuffs when they received it.

They escaped in a sedan parked behind the station in which two other men were waiting. A sixth man had served as a lookout on the station platform.

The 30 passengers in the train including six women, knew nothing of the robbery until police reached the scene.

FIND CLOTHING

Articles Left in Abandoned Car Believed Clues.

Articles of convict and civilian clothing left in an abandoned automobile yesterday led Licking county authorities to believe that two fugitives from the Ohio State reformatory were responsible for breaking into the Valley Inn, St. Louisville, and a store in Utica.

The car, owned by Oliver Hurtz, R. D. 5, Mansfield, was stolen from the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate parking lot Wednesday evening shortly after two trustees walked away from the reformatory farm.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke reported the escape of Norris Westbrook, 21, of Licking county, and Clayton Amburgey, 17, of Clinton county, both of whom were serving one to 15 year terms for burglary. Dispatches from Newark said the pair surprised at the Inn, escaped on foot through a cornfield despite several shots fired at them by a deputy sheriff.

DIES AT HOME IN MANSFIELD

Former Morrow Countian Leaves Four Children and Sister.

MT. GILEAD—Arthur Upton Baker, 68, a former resident of Morrow county, died yesterday morning at his home, 305 West Third street, Mansfield. An amputation of a leg a year ago, from which he never recovered, was given as the cause of death.

Mr. Baker is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ethel Gray and Mrs. Jack Reed, and two sons, Lloyd and Lester, all of Mansfield, and one sister, Mrs. Zella Higgins, of Denver, Col.

Dancing, a floor show, a softball game between the Mansfield and Crestline Eagles, and other entertainment will be provided throughout the day.

Up and Down THE STREET

It takes more than a little rain to stop the Y. M. C. A. day camp boys from having an outing, once they make up their minds to it. Yesterday, just as the 30 youngsters were preparing to leave for the camp on Home road, it began to rain. So "Y" officials decided to wait it out at one of the theaters. After the show the boys piled into cars and proceeded to the camp, where they had dinner and a campfire. Just as they were preparing for bed it began to rain again, so back they went to Mansfield. They "camped out" last night in the "Y" gym, and this morning they left again for the camp.

The five girls who are taking the Civil aeronautics course at Senior high school came through the supreme test of courage the other night when all of them remained quietly in their seats while two mice scampered about the room. Except for a few chuckles from the aviation students, the playful mice created no distubrance in the room where J. R. Harrington was conducting his class.

Despite his girth, Mayor William J. Locke proved last night that he can wield a wicked tennis racket. The mayor was out to look over the new courts at Maple lake and the urge to take a swing at the ball was so great he borrowed a pair of tennis shoes and a racket from a bystander and engaged in a set with Roy Vaughn — probably a little practice for the match he's scheduled to play against Vaughn at the South park-Maple lake association's fiesta Thursday, Sept. 12.

OHIO SOLDIERS SCORE VICTORY

Guardsmen Win Smashing War Maneuver Through Forced March Attack.

(By Associated Press)

CAMP McCOY, Wis. — Ohio "triumphed" in second army maneuvers yesterday, with the 37th division of Ohio national guards winning a smashing victory in "the battle of the swamps."

Commander Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light gained revenge, too, for his near capture a few days ago. He sent his mechanized forces on a 75-mile forced march, attacked the surprised 38th division from the rear, smashed into Wyeville, and captured about 75 per cent of the division staff of the Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia guard.

On the other side of the battle area the streamlined fifth army division executed a daylight withdrawal, most difficult of military operations. Hard pressed by steadily advancing guardsmen, the troops fell back three miles, destroying bridges as they went.

Speedy combat units, meanwhile, broke through guard lines and "destroyed" lumber yards, gasoline supplies, hardware and food stores.

Mail is heavy here. Ohio national guardsmen are receiving 20,000 letters, papers and packages a day from home, according to 37th division headquarters.

Before the cold spell food was the principal item but after the cold wave struck the mail was heavy with parcels of sweaters, underclothing, gloves, mufflers and even ear muffs.

WILLKIE MAPS CAMPAIGN TRIPS, STUDIES ROOSEVELT ITINERARY

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The capital speculated today on the political possibilities stemming from the address President Roosevelt will deliver on Labor day, Sept. 2.

Mr. Roosevelt speaks at the dedication of Chickamauga dam near Chattanooga, Tenn., and later at ceremonies dedicating the Great Smoky Mountain national park, Tennessee.

Mr. Roosevelt's appearance in the TVA region would offer an opportunity for a discussion of administration power policies which were opposed by Republican Presidential Candidate Wendell L. Willkie when he was chairman of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation.

The president will leave Washington Tuesday for a brief visit at Hyde Park, entraining for Tennessee on Sept. 1. Following his Great Smoky Mountain address, he will motor to Maryville, Tenn., and entrain for South Charleston, W. Va., to inspect the armor plate and gun factory there Sept. 3 before returning here.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Wendell Willkie today contemplated a staggering program of personal appearances and speeches in 18 states over a 4,000 mile swing, then took a look at President Franklin D. Roosevelt's itinerary for the first few days of September listing "non-political" speeches, and made an observation.

"I know of course that all of those speeches will be strictly non-political," the Republican presidential nominee said. "My speeches will be political but they will be announced as such."

For himself, the candidate has elected to start his campaign at Coffeyville, Kas., on Sept. 16. Almost 20 years ago, Willkie taught history in the Coffeyville high school and coached athletics and since his nomination, old friends have been besieging him with requests to open his campaign there.

En route to Coffeyville from Rushville, Ind., his wife's home town where his personal headquarters will be based, Willkie will make back-platform appearances from his special train while crossing Illinois and Missouri.

After Coffeyville, the candidate will visit Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois before returning to Rushville.

Next he will move on to Detroit, Mich., for a major speech on Sept. 30. Later he will move into New England and New York will see him on Nov. 2.

Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle probably will be the setting for major speeches on the west coast and in the mid-west, aside from Coffeyville, there will be a major speech in Iowa, home state of Henry Wallace, Democratic vice presidential candidate and recently resigned secretary of agriculture.

Predicting the "biggest livestock show in the history of the State fair," County Commissioner C. L. Mitchell, member of the State fair board, left yesterday for Columbus to spend a week at the state's annual exposition.

Mitchell, who is in charge of the sheep exhibit at the fair, said early entries indicated a larger display of all classifications of livestock than ever before in the fair's history.

The fair will open officially Saturday and will continue through Saturday, Aug. 31.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

At Your Service.

Among those on the Broadway scene who could really Write a Book if there were no laws of libel are the see-all, hear-all servitors of the smart salons, the night club waiters. They are the lads who serve soup to Brenda Frazier and nuts to Tommy Manville, who know whether or not Hedy Lamarr likes lamb chops and how many martinis Spencer Tracy has before lunch.

Their ears are attuned to the chatter of the town at play. If they listen (and they do) they catch the dramatic moments of midnight Manhattan long before those moments are fertilizer for the gossip grapevine; they know the "inside" on the latest divorce or romance or cafe brawl because they were right there, putting the demi tasse on the table, when it happened.

It is tradition that no one ever notices a waiter's face, but this is not true in the gilded spots, where the waiters are personalities. Most of the famous patrons of famous bistros have their favorite waiters; many of the tray-toting lads are "characters" to the cafe society mob.

And they deserve to be, because often a waiter's background is more interesting than that of the debutante into whose silken lap he's trying to avoid spilling the vichysoisse.

* * *

Jimmy Monche, at LaConga, has served Scotch, steak and chile con carne to such celebrated patrons as Doris Duke Cromwell, Sonja Heinie, Lord Beaverbrook, and Dorothy Lamour. He was the one who broke up the fight that ensued when Franklin Delano Roosevelt, jr., and Bruce Cabot tried to persuade Brenda Frazier to leave her escort and join them.

Jimmy was worth a quarter of a million dollars back in 1922 when he owned a chain of Coney Island restaurants; the crash came, and he went back to his old job of waiting on tables. He had started his career as a bus boy, and used to be great friends with a bus boy who worked across the street—a kid named Eddie Cantor.

Lois Andrews once asked Jimmy what LaConga's wishing well was for, and he explained that if you threw a penny into the well and made a wish, the wish would come true.

"Okay," said Lois, handing him a bill, "get me ten dollars worth of pennies!"

A week later she married Georgie Jessel.

* * *

The Stork club waiters work in teams of two. (One team actually has as last names Ham and Egg.) Walter No. 25, Jack Celino, used to be a six-day bicycle rider. Rudolph Ferrari, No. 2, boxed on the Italian Olympic team in 1928; Jerry Freppel, a colleague, was an alternate on the French swimming team in 1924. Jack Spooner, the Stork's maitre d'hotel was a fingerprint expert for the army during the last war; Valentino Vincenz, No. 8, was a corporal in the Swiss army.

Jack Vorhauser, a captain now, was recently promoted from the waiters' ranks. Also recently he sold his palatial home in Allenhurst, N. J., which has an odd history. It was given to him—along with $20,000 in cash and $25,000 in jewelry, by two old maiden ladies upon whom he waited regularly when he worked at the Hotel Astor.

They liked him so well, they willed him their home and fortune! He kept the home, but the money and jewels went into the night club Jack opened—and closed rapidly.

Apparently every waiter's ambition is to own his own night club, but most of them, when they try it, wind up back in the kitchen.

* * *

Eduardo Christian, most colorful waiter at the Hurricane, was born in Tahiti and is a direct descendent of the Christian who led the mutineers from the "Bounty." (That Clark Gable character, remember?) He worked his way to this country as a steward on several ships and got his first New York job at the Hotel Pennsylvania. Later, at the McAlpin, he served Lindberg at the reception dinner for the aviator in 1927. Lindbergh asked him for a special salad made of lettuce, avocado, and red pepper, with French dressing. From then on, that concoction became known at the "Lindbergh Salad."

In 1932 Christian had moved over to the Biltmore, and he served President-elect Roosevelt at the dinner celebrating his election.

Christian was extremely nervous at this honor, and President Roosevelt noticed it. "Why are you nervous?" he asked, laughingly. "I'm the one who should be nervous!"

* * *

The waiters at the Club 18 serve a double purpose—they dish out the daiquiris and also appear in the floor show. Two of them—Willie Grogan and Doc Lee—are such adept funmakers they are distinguished from their fellow workers by the hyphenated rank of waiter-stooge.

Willie Grogan is a rotund, middle-aged Brooklyn-born clown who is almost as broad as his five-foot-two height. His humor is devastating, but his hilariously comic face helps him get away with it.

It is his habit, when a group of elegantly dressed socialites like Mr. and Mrs. William Rhinelander Stewart or Brenda Frazier and her friends enter the club, to yell at the headwaiter: "Why do you always have to put these truckdrivers and their dolls at my station!"

One night it seemed as though everyone at a postage stamp-sized table in the Club 18 were a celebrity. Irene Dunne was there, and Walter Wanger, Joan Bennett, Don Ameche, Dorothy Lamour, Binnie Barnes, Mischa Auer, Edgar Bergen, Helen Hayes, Rosalind Russell, Robert Benchley, and Lunt and Fontanne.

"Get a load of the kissers in this audience," Grogan opened fire.

"Why, there are a lot of nice people out there," Jack White interjected, "and they have a lot of nice money."

"G'wan," Grogan scoffed, "if they had any money they'd be across the street at Twenty-One!"

City News, Furnitures Share First Place In Golf League Race

Foursomes Score One-Sided Wins to Remain In Deadlock; Barrett Shoots 38.

By CHARLES MARTIN

IT'S DEVELOPED into a hectic two-team battle for the top position in The News-Journal Class B golf league championship race.

Last week three teams shared the berth and today two of those clubs the Tucker Furnitures and the City News—are still holding a share of it

Tuckers and the City News aware of the fact that only one more night of play remains in the circuit turned on the heat to mark up one-sided 5 to 0 triumphs in matches at Possum Run yesterday.

While these foursomes are fighting for sole possession of the lead, the Junior Association of Commerce hopped into third place in the race with a 4 to 1 victory over the Tinkey Lumbers

The Central Fruit club which had shared the lead last week, fell by the wayside by taking a whipping from Tuckers. City News clubs win was marked up over the Elks Lodge team

In the other matches last night, the Bissman company and News-Journal teams battled to a 2-all tie

Only three snotmakers were under the 40 mark. They were Red Barrett of Tuckers whose two-over-par 38 gave him individual scoring honors and Jimmy Morgan and Bob Miller who had 39's

There is a slight chance that the leaders may wind up the regular season in a tie Next week the Furnitures meet Elks Lodge and the City News tangles with the JAC outfit.

The Newsmen had a hard time winning last night. Harry Fay and Frank Lay, No 1 and 2 men for the City News had to play extra holes to win, Fay beating Ward on one extra hole and Lay stopping Weir on the second.

Defending Champions Take Over Third Place In Junior League Race.

By BILL WHITE, Associated Press Sports Writer.

THE EPITAPHS have been written, the decline and the fall of the Yankee empire have been explained fully, the mourners have headed for home—but the Yankees refuse to stay dead

Certainly they looked like anything but hopelessly beaten ex-champions yesterday as they smashed the first-place Cleveland Indians 15-2 The decision ran their victory string to 12 out of their last 15 and sent them scooting into third place (just eight games off the pace).

The Yankee triumph, plus a 9-8 Detroit victory over the Boston Red Sox, brought about largely by the remarkable relief hurling of Fred Hutchinson and his timely hitting, cut the Indians' lead over the Tigers to 4½ games.

Hutchinson blanked the Sox after replacing Buck Newsom in the second inning and drove Dutch Meyer home in the 10th with a single to plummet the Sox into fourth place

In the league's only other offering—a night game Johnny Berardino with five blows in five tries led an 18-hit St Louis Brown assault on the Athletics that netted the Brownies an 8-4 victory

Rain forced postponement of the Chicago-Washington game

The National league also has a team that refuses to admit it started too late—the cocky Cardinals They won their seventh straight by whaling Philadelphia 9-0, to jump into a third-place tie with the New York Giants busy splitting a double-header with the Pittsburgh Pirates

Mort Cooper limited the Phils to six hits while the Cards banged out 12, including Johnny Mize's 36th homer.

The Giants won the first game from the Pirates 5-4 as Mickey Witek singled home Mel Ott in the 12th inning. The second game went to the Pirates 4-0

Bill Werber was the toast of Cincinnati for his ninth-inning home run that beat the Boston Bees, 3-2.

Vern Olsen almost had a no-hitter as the Cubs whaled the Brooks 5-0, the fourth straight western loss for the invaders He was touched for singles by Ducky Medwick and Joe Vosmik in the seventh

Alta Lumbers Seeking First Win Over Tinkeys.

Speaker Thinks Mack Is Supplying Spark

By GERALD HEALEY

CLEVELAND—(NNS)—Tris Speaker, the Gray Eagle who led Cleveland to its only American league flag and world baseball championship, looked back on a prediction today and smiled—not only was the prediction coming true, but his home town club was on its way to another pennant.

* * *

Back last February when the Indians were leaving for training camp, Speaker, at a civic celebration for the team, opined that Ray Mack was destined to become a truly great second baseman and one of the big cogs in the Tribe's flag hunt.

* * *

Speaker was practically alone on that score. Manager Oscar Vitt was openly skeptical, the fans were pulling for Mack because he is a Cleveland product, and the other players regarded Ray as just another ball player trying to win a berth.

So, one can't blame the veteran former Cleveland manager and center fielder when he says,

"I went way out on the limb for Ray last winter and he certainly has lived up to my expectations. He's been up around the 300 mark in batting all season and look at the defensive strength he has given that infield.

"He's a great pivot man because he has one of the most powerful arms in the game and is able to nip runners who ordinarily would be safe. His play is comparable to the best exhibitions around second base in the history of baseball.

"Compare the 1940 team with the club I managed to the championship? Well, that would be hard to do because conditions in baseball have changed so that I would hardly be doing justice to any of the athlete."

Then Speaker, considered about the best center fielder of his time and one of baseball's immortals in the Hall of Fame, launched into a discourse of Cleveland's pennant chances and how they would shape up in the world series.

"A pitcher like Bob Feller gives a team a big advantage in a short series, but I look for the breaks to decide it," he said.

"Al Smith would be a big asset to the Tribe in the series and undoubtedly Rollie Hemsley is one of the best catchers, if not the best, in the major leagues today. The Cleveland power at bat is pretty evenly distributed and their defense is almost airtight.

"Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack are the greatest defensive pair I have ever looked at and Connie Mack (manager of the Philadelphia Athletics) agreed with me recently that Ray has probably one of the greatest arms in the game."

Speaker said he wasn't conceding the flag to the Indians just yet.

"Detroit is liable to go on an extended winning streak anytime now and if the Indians slumped at the same time it would take only a few games to even up matters," he added.

"But they're hitting in the pinches now, which is always a good sign."

* * *

He believes the series will be close this year because, he said, the New York Yankees dwarfed all opposition with their powerful club last year, while this season the American league is more evenly balanced.

* * *

All of which bring Tris into the fold as another of baseball's followers who believes that Mack and Boudreau supply the spark that is keeping the Tribe on top.

Seek Glory In Shoot Handicap

600 Stars Perform in Grand American Event.

VANDALIA (AP)—There's gold in them thar "pidgins" and about 900 marksmen crack and otherwise went after $10,000 today in the Grand American Handicap, most unpredictable of sporting events.

* * *

The trapshoot title has been won by a 14-year-old boy, a 70-year-old man, by millionaires, unemployed laborers, farmers, barbers, mechanics, store-owners—by everyone except experts.

* * *

No man has ever won it twice. The secret lies in the handicap. Each man must stand between 16 and 25 feet behind the target release, according to his registered scores and his known ability.

Roy W. Miller, 45-year-old rural mail carrier of Grove City, Minn., won the preliminary handicap yesterday.

Miller won the hard way, cracking 100 in a row for a perfect score from the 20-yard line. It was the second time in the history of the preliminary that a perfect score has been recorded.

* * *

Miller decided just before the event that he would not enter because he was shooting so badly. But a friend, Ray Zweiner of Blooming Prairie, Minn., talked Roy into competing.

* * *

The other marksman to score 100 in the preliminary was Jean Pope of East Moline, Ill., in 1930.

Coach Wants to Drop Huddle

Stuhldreher Claims Its a Habit With Gridders.

MADISON, Wis.—(AP)—Harry Stuhldreher, young Wisconsin football coach, believes that the huddle is not necessary for current football play.

* * *

"Biggest reason so many teams continue to employ the huddle is that it has become a habit. Just how many teams have ever tried the open system of calling signals?

* * *

"Some say open calling is difficult for the players to grasp in a hurry. We've found at Wisconsin that it isn't. We can hear on the sidelines at least 97 per cent of all the signals called.

* * *

"That helps us keep in contact with play, and know what is coming up. That way we can more easily see what goes wrong when the play fails.

* * *

"Open calling also allows much better leadership on the part of the quarterback."

Columbus Club In 2nd Place

Red Birds Chalk Up Twin Win Over Brewers.

(By Associated Press)

The long climb of the Columbus Red Birds up the American association baseball ladder was paying second place dividends today.

* * *

Using the slugging Minneapolis club's own chief weapon—the home run—Columbus swept a double header with the Millers last night, 7 to 4 and 5 to 3.

* * *

The twin triumph gave the Birds a season's mark of 73 victories and 52 defeats and boosted them ahead of Minneapolis by one percentage point. The Millers have won 70 and lost 50. Columbus will have a chance to extend its lead in another doubleheader tonight.

After going eight innings against Minneapolis in the opening game, Pitcher Frank Melton attempted the "iron man" trick by starting the second game. However, the Millers blasted him out in the second inning. Murry Dickson drew credit for the victory.

Larry Barton homered twice and Harry Walker once.

* * *

Pace-setting Kansas City also gained through the Columbus-Minneapolis engagement. Six games ahead before yesterday's games, the Blues found themselves seven and a half to the good today by virtue of their sweep over Indianapolis, 2 to 0 and 4 to 3.

Milwaukee and St. Paul snapped losing streaks in last night's other games. The Brewers went 11 innings and aided by an error beat Louisville, 10 to 9, to end a five-game string of defeats. Bill Swift shut out Toledo, 1 to 0, on seven hits to give St. Paul its first decision in seven starts.

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

THE HEROES — Joe DiMaggio, Yanks, whose single, double and homer with bases loaded drove in six runs against Indians. Vern Olsen, Cubs, who blanked Dodgers with two hits. Bill Werber, Reds, whose ninth inning homer beat Bees.

THE GOATS — Al Milnar, Indians, who was victim of Yank's six-run rally in second inning. Nick Strincevich, Bees, who tossed Werber gopher ball.

ENTERS HALL OF FAME

DALLAS, Tex.—(UP)—Les Mueller, 21, a lanky, righthander, pitched a no-hit no-run game last night for Beaumont of the Texas league. His no-hitter brought Beaumont a 1 to 0 victory over Dallas in the first game of a double-header. It was his 15th victory of the season against nine losses.

Looks Like Reds Can Win National Title

Walters Stops Bees, 3-2, as Cincy Adds to Lead.

CINCINNATI (AP)—It's beginning to look like the Cincinnati Reds will be able to win the National League pennant race without breaking out of a trot—that is if other teams continue to run expert interference for them.

* * *

The Rhinelanders saw their lead rolled up to six and one-half games as they called Paul Derringer to face Boston today. Jim Tobin was the choice for the Bees.

* * *

The Reds quickened their pace yesterday to beat the Bees 3 to 2 on Bill Werber's ninth inning homer. The blow broke up a pitching duel between the Reds ace, Bucky Walters, and Nick Strincevich.

The victory, coupled with Brooklyn's defeat at Chicago, increased the Cincinnatian's lead a full game.

A two-run homer by Max West in the sixth deprived Walters of a shutout as he took his 17th victory.

* * *

Co-starring with Werber and Walters was Centerfield Harry Craft, who returned to his former post after several weeks on the bench and banged out a two-run single with the bases loaded in the third round.

* * *

The Reds left eight men on bases, Strincevich allowing nine blows.

KNOX ATTACKS SECRECY VEIL OF NAZI PLAN

Declares Uncovering of Fifth Column Activities Serves as Best Defense.

Editor's Note: The following summary was written and released by Secretary of Navy Frank Knox as the final installment of the fifth column series.

* * *

By FRANK KNOX
Secretary of Navy

The articles by Col. William J. Donovan and Edgar Mowrer which have appeared in the press of America have served in my judgment, a highly useful purpose. Their frank purpose was in forewarning and thus fore-arming the American people against a subtle form of attack successfully used elsewhere by the totalitarian powers.

Unpreparedness, surprise, then delay and finally panic are the essential features of this new form of attack. Summarizing the purposes of such propaganda are to accomplish the following objectives:

First, to create confusion of thought, suspicion and dissension among the masses in order to weaken their morale and lower the stamina of the people.

Secondly, to incite jealously and antagonism between different classes of society as well as between various political, racial, and religious groups. This is an effective means of weakening a country, by disrupting its unity of purpose and action.

Third, to retard any effective preparation for defense. In all the conquered countries of Europe the Pacifists were stimulated to the utmost activity. Prominent officials and politicians, who were conscientious pacifists, were induced to use their influence against large scale armament. Church dignitaries were covertly worked upon on similar grounds to publicly express their disapproval. The radical labor element was secretly urged to oppose the plans of the government for enlisting them in any war.

In France, labor's sabotage of the armament program was a factor in that country's lack of essential equipment. Such activities were carried on at the very time when the Nazis were driving the working people of Germany to the limit of their strength to create those implements of war with which she conquered France.

Fourth, the fear of radicalism so prevalent among the rich and the ruling classes in England and in France was used as a potent argument for a more friendly, tolerant feeling toward the Nazi regime, and as a point of leverage for a policy of appeasement.

Subtle persuasion, secret pressure, and in all probability, open bribery were all used to break down the loyalty and to secure the cooperation of a few key men in official positions and in the armies.

Fifth, before the outbreak of war and throughout its earlier stages, the smaller countries were constantly urged to maintain their neutrality and were warned to avoid any collaboration with other nations for their common defense.

Government officials and the public, by means of propaganda were constantly assured of safety and immunity from war if only they practiced the strictest neutrality and abstained from military cooperation with their neighbors.

Those personal privileges which in our democracy we value so highly—freedom of speech and of the press—make us particularly vulnerable to this new form of warfare. It represents a new and a grave danger for a self-governing country which springs from many nationalities.

Fortunately there is an effective primary means of defense against the underhand activities of fifth column agents. It lies in tearing down the veil of secrecy and subterfuge under which they operate, to inform our citizens in detail as to means they employ and their purposes.

HERE ARE THE SEVEN MEN YOU ARE TO FIGHT
OH, MY GORSH! WHO ARE THEY ?
THEY ARE MY SEVEN SONS!
I'M TOLD THEY RESEMBLE ME! DO YOU THINK SO ?
FINE BOYS, TOO! EVERY BIT AS MEAN AS I AM
MAYBE MEANER
THE LITTLE DARLINGS

WELL, THEY AREN'T GOIN' TO HAVE ANY 'FATTED CALF,' I GUESS--BUT THEY'RE FIGGERIN' ON STEAK MOST EVERY DAY HE'S HOME-
IT SHOULD BE A JOYFUL HOME-COMING-
YEAH! I HOPE IT COMES OFF TH' WAY THEY'RE PLANNIN' IT---IT'D BE A SHAME IF ANYTHING HAPPENED TO SPOIL IT-
OFTEN THERE IS FAR MORE PLEASURE IN ANTICIPATION THAN IN FULFILLMENT-
THAT'S WHAT I MEAN--- IF ONLY THAT LUG DOESN'T DO SOMETHIN' TO RUIN EVER'THING-
EVEN SO, THEY STILL WILL HAVE HAD THE PLEASURE OF DREAMING AND PLANNING-

PAM— In the Night! By A. W. Brewerton

WHAT WAS THAT ?
IN THE STILL, SMALL HOURS PAM IS SUDDENLY AWAKENED. SHE SWITCHES ON HER BED LIGHT.
THERE IT IS AGAIN! --SOME--ONE'S--IN--THE--NEXT--ROOM!
THROUGH THE DOOR A THIN PENCIL OF LIGHT SHONE AND SOME MUFFLED SOUNDS WERE AUDIBLE!
8-23
SUDDENLY A MAN HOLDING A BIG AUTOMATIC STOOD IN THE DOORWAY. AND A FLASHLIGHT WAS PLAYED INTO PAM'S FACE!
KEEP QUIET-- AND YOU WON'T GET HURT! UNDERSTAND? DON'T MAKE A SOUND!
A LIGHT FROM THE NEXT ROOM FELL FULL UPON THE MAN'S FEATURES.- IT WAS THE STRANGE MAN WHO HAD SAT LISTENING IN THE HOSPITAL WAITING ROOM!
TURNING, HE SEEMED TO PICK UP SOMETHING FROM THE FLOOR AND PASSED FROM HER VIEW.
PAM WAS SHAKING WITH FEAR.
A FEW MORE MUFFLED SOUNDS — AND PAM COULD HEAR NO MORE!

Final Phase of Battle Under Way

The communique said that 11 British planes and two barrage balloons were destroyed yesterday and that two German planes were missing.

German planes, it was said, continued mining British "harbors."

automatically aid Greece if Italy attacked her.

It was denied also that Gen. Metaxas was seeking the aid of Adolf Hitler or that Greek army leaves had been canceled.

Italy Gives Clear Warning To Greece

ROME —(AP)— A clear warning that Italy will invade Greece if the British occupy strategic Greek islands was sounded by a high Fascist source today.

"Italy's not going to let the British occupy any Greek islands If the British move into Greece we will do the same," this source declared in response to rumors that Britain is considering occupation of the islands of Crete and Corfu.

(British foreign office quarters said Britain intends to stand by her guarantee of Greek independence, given in April 13 1939, if Greece resists any invasion, and that a report of a conversation yesterday between the British minister and Greece Premier John Metaxas was being awaited.)

The comment of the high Fascist source was made as a fierce give and take air and naval war raged from the eastern Mediterranean to the shores of the Indian Ocean.

An intense bombardment of a British convoy escorted by two destroyers was carried out by Italian planes in the eastern Mediterranean, an Italian communique said, and Alexandria, Britain's naval base in Egypt, was attacked.

(The British reported a low-flying attack on Italian warships anchored in Bomba roadstead off the Libyan coast destroyed two submarines, a detstroyer and a submarine depot ship, and that bombs falling among airplanes, trucks and other vehicles gathered near Derna, nearby, caused great damage.)

Relations between Greece and Italy have grown taut since the Italian press and radio accused Greeks of the decapitation of an Albanian "patriot" Daut Hoggia on Italian-conquered Albanian soil.

Fascists Appeal For Egypt Switch

ROME—(INS)—An appeal to Egypt to break its ties with Great Britain was made by Italian officials today in the wake of recent warnings that Italy plans to drive the British from the ancient land of the Nile

"When Italian troops enter Egypt they will not be fighting Egyptians but they will be fighting the English operating from Egypt." Rome authorities said.

"If Egypt modifies her present juridical situation (the Egyptian military understanding with Britain), the Italian attitude will be subject to change."

(Editor's note: Yesterday it was reported that Egypt would declare war on Italy if Italian forces cross the Egyptian border. Egyptian mobile troops were paced in strategic defense positions.)

At the same time, the Italian military bulletin announced heavy blows against British fleet units in the Mediterranean.

Her whereabouts today were kept secret. One of the Trotsky secretaries said: "It's quite possible that the Stalinists are interested in murdering her, too."

Most of Trotsky's followers blamed the Russian secret police, OGPU, unreservedly for the assassination, but one member of the secretarial staff said Nazi agents also might have been connected with it, because, he said, the OGPU and the Gestapo (Nazi secret police) have been "cooperating closely in many matters of mutual interest" in Mexico.

Army Plans Test of Fastest Plane, Biggest Bomber

TWO TERRIBLE WAR MACHINES NEARLY READY

Pursuit Plane Can Travel 460 Miles an Hour at Two-Third Throttle.

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES — The world's fastest pursuit plane and the largest bomber—both potentially terrible engines of destruction—were nearing completion today.

Both had been approved by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, and William S. Knudsen, chairman of the defense commission. The Lockheed intereceptor pursuit plane and the Douglas B-19 bomber were inspected yesterday by Arnold and Knudsen and "unveiled" to newspapermen.

The intereceptor was rolled from Lockheed's Burbank plant ready to fly and will be tested "within a few days," a company official said. Officers expected that the giant bomber would be flying by autumn.

Maj. K. B. Wolfe, chief production engineer for the aircorps, said the fighter pursuit plane "is without doubt the fastest military ship in the world. We know it will fly 460 miles an hour with two-thirds throttle and hope it will do better than 500."

Only the highest air corps officials and the engineers who built it have an inkling of what to expect when it takes off. No other plane of its size—wing spread of 42 feet and overall length of 38 feet—ever has harnessed such tremendous power, it was said. Its two Allison liquid-cooled motors develop an estimated 3,200 horsepower.

The four-motored bomber, 212 feet from wing tip to wing tip, two-thirds the length of a football field, has a tail assembly as tall as a three-story building. Its motors each develop 2,000 horsepower, and its 7,000-mile range would make possible non-stop round-trip flights from this country to Europe or from New York or Los Angeles to Rio De Janeiro.

Built by the Douglas Aircraft company, it carries a crew of 12, a heavy load of fuel and at least 18 tons of bombs. It will bristle with cannon, the size and number of which have not been disclosed.

FUNERAL HELD FOR ENGINEER

Ex-Mansfielder Was Expert on Munitions, Served In France During War.

Funeral services were held today in Marion for a former Mansfield resident who died in that city Tuesday.

Hollis Baker Crum, 59, skilled mechanical engineer and considered an expert in munitions manufacture, at one time worked at the American Steel and Machinery company in this city, and in June returned here to enter General hospital where he was under treatment for nine weeks.

Mr. Crum was named last February, while still employed as an engineer at the Willys-Overland plant at Toledo, to supervise the establishment of a department in that plant for the manufacture of 75 mm. shell casings. It was set up with the understanding that in case this country became involved in war, 160,000 shell casings were to be turned out every month for two years.

Prior to his association with the Willys-Overland company, Mr. Crum had been employed at the Huber Manufacturing company in Marion. Ill-health forced him to give up his work and he returned to Marion. During the World war he played an important part when he was assigned to supervise four large munitions plants in France and England.

He was a native of Coffeyville, Kan. Prior to four years ago he had lived in Bucyrus. Services were held in Marion this afternoon and burial was made in Oakwood cemetery, Bucyrus.

BRITISH CHILDREN LIKE U. S. BUT NOT CORN-ON-COB DINNER

NORTH CANTON—(UP)—Free of fear, a group of 84 young Britons settled comfortably today in temporary quarters at a camp and an inn, excitedly awaiting their transfer to private homes in their American haven from the European war.

These children of employes of the Hoover Co., Ltd., of London have been brought to Stark county by the Hoover Co., of North Canton, for the duration of the European conflict.

The boys and girls arrived yesterday after a 3,500-mile journey by train and ship under the guidance of six British adults who will return to England.

They will live a week in Hoover camp (boys) and Hoover inn (girls) before they are absorbed into households.

One of the first peculiarities encountered by the visitors was corn on the cob at dinner last night. Many of the guests had never seen corn served that way before and few had eaten it. Most of them politely decided they didn't like this native American delicacy.

Robert Gordon Soundry, 8, quickly "caught on" to another American tradition for the younger generation.

Looking over the hilly territory around the camp, he announced his best English accent:

This place is lovely. The thing I like best is that there are many good hiding places for playing cowboys and Indians."

He did not mention the "hiding places" from a more deadly threat in his homeland.

H. W. Hoover, president of the Hoover company, personally escorted the young guests from New York to North Canton.

BECK SERVICES

CRESTLINE—Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Robert F. Beck funeral home for William W. Miller, 85, retired farmer who died at his home at 224 North Henry street early Thursday morning.

TALK PLAN FOR DREDGING OF CREEK IN CITY

City and County Officials Hear Complaints That Rocky Fork Floods Area.

City and county officials were scheduled to meet with the Mansfield Conservancy board at the courthouse this afternoon to outline a plan for financing the dredging of Rocky Fork creek through Mansfield as a flood control project.

County commissioners urged the board to map the channel dredging project after representatives of a number of industrial firms in the northern part of the city and residents in that section complained that their properties were flooded after every hard rain.

The session this afternoon was called by the Conservancy board which is in charge of flood prevention work in the city.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston will determine, however, whether the Conservancy district can make cash expenditures for the work from funds collected through a tax levy, or if another source of funds must be found.

The Conservancy district, which has never become active to the point of sponsoring a widespread flood control project, annually collects funds to retire bonds sold several years ago to finance a proposed program.

If the court rules the Conservancy board cannot finance the Rocky Fork dredging, it will be necessary to provide other means of raising money, possibly through assessments against property owners in the vicinity of the improvement, it was said.

County Commissioner Guy Stewart pointed out that small trees, driftwood and sand bars have virtually blocked the creek bed at a number of points within the city limits, forcing the water out over lawns and streets after heavy rains.

Dredging of more than a mile of the creek channel from the northwest to east sections of the city would be included in the project. No estimate of the cost has been made.

RUNAWAYS LOCATED IN ILLINOIS --BUT NOW THERE'S ONE EXTRA

Police today were to go to Forest Park, Ill., near Chicago, to return four young Mansfield runaways, two of whom are charged with the theft of an automobile.

The quartet includes two young girls and their boy companions reported missing since Tuesday.

Police said, however, that dispatches from Illinois authorities today indicated that three boys had been picked up with the two girls. They said they were not informed who the fifth member of the runaway party was.

Those reported missing from here were Rose Fava, 16 of 141 Columbia avenue, her cousin, Rosie Vetrano, 15, of 223 North Franklin avenue; John Bachman, 17, of 188½ North Main street, and Gene Duke, 16, of 85½ Coul street.

Meanwhile charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor were filed against Edward P. Conneff, Oakenwald avenue, whose car the youths are said to have taken.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said the charges were filed against Conneff when he refused to disclose information concerning the whereabouts of the four.

Conneff told officers he gave the youths permission to use his car with the understanding that they were to return it before 8 p. m. Tuesday. He said he knew where they went but refused to divulge the information. He signed the affidavit against young Bachman and Duke for the theft of his machine.

Bates said that Conneff would probably be arraigned before Probate Judge C. J. Anderson along with the two girls and their boy companions upon their return here Monday.

HUNT DRIVER

Police Want Operator of Hit-Skip Auto.

Police today were on the lookout for the driver of a car, believed to be maroon or red, which failed to stop after colliding with another car on route 30-S, west of the Subway yesterday morning.

Highway patrolmen who investigated the accident said the car sideswiped an automobile driven by Louis Andregg, 44, R. D. 3, Mansfield, and then went on.

Patrolmen said that a smear of red paint was found on Andregg's automobile where the unidentified car struck. The left front fender, left front headlight and left running board of the hit-skip car were known to be damaged, they said. Andregg was not hurt.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1940.

The long dry spell doesn't seem to have interfered with political mud slinging.

With all the things going on these days, traffic must be considerably delayed in a one-track mind.

As one after another is brought down in the battle over England, the impression in Great Britain is that Nazi planes are good—to the last drop.

Poor Start Toward 'Clean' Campaign

VOTERS who are sincerely interested in vital issues of the present national campaign, and who recognize the admirable qualities of both candidates for the presidency, must regret such shoddiness as has already been introduced into the campaign by Secretary Ickes' attack on Mr. Willkie and Senator Bridges' heated reply.

A couple of weeks before his acceptance speech Mr. Willkie made reference to Mr. Wallace as an "eminent public servant and fine gentleman" and expressed hope that the campaign could be conducted on the basis of fundamental issues involved and not upon personalities. His acceptance speech was worded in accord with this standard.

Choice of Secretary Ickes to make the first reply to the Willkie speech, in behalf of the opposing candidate, appears to have been rather unfortunate as Mr. Ickes, in his public utterances, is more given to vituperation than statesmanship, and his record is probably the most vulnerable of any of the administration spokesmen.

Nor has Senator Bridges the quiet dignity which would incline to treat with silent contempt such asinine statements as were made by Mr. Ickes, and his reference to Ickes as a "Hitler in short pants" and a "professional rabble rouser" is not in accord with the high standard at which Mr. Willkie has expressed hope of keeping the campaign.

What a great majority of the voters would like to have, and are entitled to, is a fair presentation of national and international issues by Candidate Roosevelt and Candidate Willkie, and those whom they may choose to speak for them, so that—by November 5—they will be in position to express intelligent preference between the two.

Farm Youth at the Fairs

THIS is the season of county and state fairs. Reports from those already held and plans for those to come show they are bigger and finer than ever before. The public throngs to them in numbers that prove past satisfaction and enjoyment.

One of the increasingly important features of the fairs is the part played by 4-H clubs. These are the organizations of farm boys and girls, through which the rural young people have been learning to be competent farmers as well as to enjoy farm life.

The young farmers raise fine livestock, learn to judge stock, learn to keep accurate accounts of all income and outgo and labor, cultivate interesting hobbies, develop useful hand skills, and have fun generally, all through activities sponsored by the 4-H clubs.

Watching these boys and girls in action at the fairs, seeing their exhibits, talking to some of them, serves to renew one's faith in America and the American way of life.

Dangerous Days On the Highways

THOSE motorists who find relaxation and pleasure in quite regular week-end trips should be specially interested in doing everything within their power to increase traffic safety—even to the extent of co-operating in an effort to legally ban freight trucks from the highways on Sundays, as has already been done in several states.

A new edition of "Accident Facts," just issued by the National Safety Council, contains some interesting information about the extra hazards of week-end motoring.

While Saturday and Sunday are only two-sevenths of the week, "Accident Facts" reveals: "Forty-four per cent of the week's rural death total and 15 per cent of the non-fatal injury total of traffic accidents occur during the week-end."

Careful driving, at reasonable speed and with better observance of "no-passing" zones, would do much to improve the week-end record and would add greatly to the pleasure of motoring.

Advance Clocks To Save Coal

AMONG the odd consequences of the European war is a requirement in Argentina that clocks be advanced one hour as a government measure to save fuel.

According to an item from Buenos Aires, printed in the Wall Street Journal, the war has made it difficult to obtain regular supplies of British coal and, even with increased imports from the United States, Brazil and Chile, the government has deemed it advisable to institute fuel economy measures.

Experience in the United States with setting clocks ahead an hour during the summer has been as a "daylight saving" measure and the need for such juggling in order to save coal may serve to impress many people with the widespread effects of war, however it may be.

Elizabeth's Prayer Again Timely

AS THE GREAT AIR FLEET of Germany roars across the Channel to conquer England, reminding the world of the famous Spanish Armada that sailed on the same errand in the year 1588, many Britons in many lands must be voicing the prayer of the famous Queen Elizabeth in that crisis. Here it is:

"We do [illegible] that thou wilt graciously [illegible] be merciful to the [illegible] that here upon earth, and at this time [illegible] with most strong and subtle adversaries. [illegible] that thou hast [illegible] England, [illegible] most of all for thy Gospel's sake do [illegible] protection. Set a wall about us, O Lord, and [illegible] mightily defend it. Let it be a comfort to the afflicted, a rock to the oppressed, and a defense to the [illegible] and people persecuted abroad. And forasmuch as [illegible] is hard, direct and go before our armies both by sea and land. Bless them and prosper them, and grant [illegible] daily success and victory. Thou art our hope and [illegible] give good and prosperous success to all those that [illegible] battle against the enemies of the Gospel."

Minimum of columnist comment on acceptance speech: "I listened to Mr. Wendell Willkie's speech. He has a good voice and speaks well over the radio."—Eleanor Roosevelt in "My Day."

THE MARX-MAN!

New Dealers Will Sidestep Debate

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Franklin Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie on the same platform at the same time—answering each other! Can you imagine it? Yes, but you don't expect it, and neither does any one else. But it was a good idea, and would be even better if there were any chance of F. D. R.'s taking Willkie up on his challenge.

But the facts are that President Roosevelt does not want any part of a debate with Willkie on ANY issue. Least of all, curiously enough, on the electric power issue which Roosevelt has made so important, and which he hopes will prove a great handicap to Willkie.

The truth is, that the New Dealers are just a little bit shell-shocked whenever they think of ANY debate with Willkie since that time the then Commonwealth and Southern president polished off Robert H. Jackson in a debate on the New Deal, before the Town Hall in New York City.

* * *

TO APPRECIATE this, one must know what the New Dealers in general, and Roosevelt in particular, think of Jackson. Even F. D. R. thinks Jackson is the second best statesman in the world today, and there are a good many New Dealers treasonable enough to think that Jackson is really No. 1. Only, they sadly admit, they are not sure he has enough political sex appeal to get elected.

And of course he could not have been nominated for vice president, much as they prefer him to Wallace, because he, like Roosevelt, comes from New York. If both had come from Delaware, or even Rhode Island, Jackson might have been F. D. R.'s running mate, but 47 electoral votes are too many to risk not having counted for one of your candidates!

So when Willkie virtually knocked the No. 1 champion (certainly after F. D. R. himself) of the New Dealers into a cocked hat in a public debate, and on issues not so dissimilar from those to be argued in this campaign, the impression was pretty nearly indelible. Certainly it is still clearly legible. And it says: "Don't let Willkie get you into a debate even if you name the judges. He'll steal 'em from you."

Remember how timid Dave Lilienthal was when Willkie offered to let the S. E. C. itself referee his company's dispute with T. V. A.? And there are New Dealers who think Dave was gypped when Willkie virtually let Lilienthal himself referee the negotiations!

But even if F. D. R. were willing to debate with Willkie on other subjects, he would not debate with him on the public ownership thesis. Not this fall! There are several signs that the New Dealers do not want any more referenda on that subject, particularly in politically strategic locations.

* * *

FOR instances, there is San Francisco. For many years San Francisco has been a Democratic stronghold. It was Southern California which was Republican "Before Roosevelt." But the newcomers down Los Angeles way are much given to the latest "isms" and are utterly unpredictable.

California's 22 electoral votes should be "in the bag" for F. D. R. All forecasters are so conceding. But stop a minute, Dr. Townsend, the idol of the ham and eggers, has come out for Willkie! That gives one pause. And it makes San Francisco important.

San Francisco has given a good many indications of getting fed up on the New Deal's public power ideas. Back in 1913, congress approved the Hetch Hetchy project, with a proviso that never should this power be distributed by privately owned agencies. San Francisco paid no attention to this. It sold the power to the old private company, took a nice profit on the sale, and let the company sell it to its citizens.

Honest Harold Ickes has tried again and again to break this up, but every time the San Francisco voters roll up a huge majority against being delivered from the power minions. So—it might be just a little bit dangerous to have San Francisco think that public ownership was the paramount issue!

Health And Diet

Poor Vision And Poor Grades.

—By DR. CLENDENING

ONE OF the teachers in a grade school heard that the psychology department in a nearby university was giving paper and pencil tests to children to determine their I. Q. ratings. She had her entire class examined and found she had what she considered an unusually large group of low ratings. In talking this over with another teacher it was suggested that this same group be examined by a member of the staff of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Nearly half the group had visual defects sufficient to interfere with their seeing critically and accurately.

A Definite Handicap.

This is a rather high finding, but, taking large groups of children with low intelligence ratings, it is found that about 10 per cent have visual defects which account for their low scores in intelligence tests.

Supervision of school examinations for visual efficiency should be made much more exact and comprehensive than it now is. In some school systems the entire program for eye health is based on whether a child is able to read a 20-20 chart. Not much attention is paid to what kind of a chart it is, whether one drawn to the scale of Snellen measurements or not, nor whether the tests are made according to controlled and consistent standards of lighting. This, of course, is not adequate if any large amount of good is to be done to directing improvement in vision in our schools.

Far-Sightedness Common.

It would be a safe guess to assume that if the majority of school pupils were asked what visual defect is commonest among our school children they would reply near-sightedness. But the experienced school ophthalmologist would reply far-sightedness.

The most common eye difficulties found among elementary school children are:

1. Errors of refraction of various degrees occurring in the following order of frequency: far-sightedness, astigmatism, near-sightedness (myopia).

2. Failure of the two eyes to work together [illegible] of squint [illegible] are.

3. Eye [illegible] different parts of the eyes [illegible] corneal opacities [illegible] back eye increasing [illegible].

4. Congenital and hereditary diseases of the eye.

Color blindness [illegible] years [illegible] the person who is color blind [illegible] Your dog [illegible] and [illegible] at [illegible] is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CHAPTER XXV

Morning came but with it no mention by Marilyn of the ill-timed phone call. Worried by her roommate's tight-lipped silence, Kathleen ventured, "One or both of us must have had a nightmare during the wee sma' hours."

"Both of us," Marilyn said cryptically.

"Thanks. I thought maybe I was getting delusions. I seem to recall a loud jangling noise about 3 a. m. Sort of like a three-alarm fire."

"Clara called. She was in one of her frenzies. I'm sorry, Kathie. There's no reason why your sleep should be broken into this way. I can't stop her calling, but I can get a room by myself so I'll be the only one bothered."

"You will, over my prostrate body," Kathleen declared. "We took this apartment together to get a little quiet and comfort, and we're getting it, Clara or no Clara. The next time Clara rings up at all hours to spill her frenzies on you, I'll answer and she'll hear a line that'll curl her hair right off her head. What was she screaming about this time, if I'm not intruding?"

"About Bruce Gordon. It seems she doesn't think too highly of him. She wouldn't have him as a gift. She's turning him over to me."

"Well, now, if that isn't big-hearted Clara! Couldn't she wait and turn him over this morning?"

"Apparently not. The urge to taunt me was too great. She seemed to be in high spirits, in quite a boastful mood. Something must have happened to make her that way."

"You were right the first time, darling. High spirits and plenty of them. I'll bet she was bubbling with spirits. As for something happening to put her in a boastful mood, nothing need happen to get her that way. She's a chronic case of inflated ego. I'd say worse only she's your sister, so I'll pull my punches. Are you terribly upset?"

"No, not terribly. I've made up my mind not to be. I have work to do and I'm going to do it; a chance at success and I'll make them most of it. Naturally, being called up at 3 in the morning by a sister who doesn't know what she is doing is not exactly a steadying experience. But it happened, it's over, so I'll dismiss it and concentrate on what's ahead of me in the office. If Clara is determined to turn her good fortune into failure, there is all the more reason for my turning mine into success. We can't both let the Marshes down."

"Stick to that resolution, darling, and you'll be Mrs. Big Business in person," she rejoiced. "Here's your hat. We'll have to race to beat Clareo's time clock."

Another busy day at the office. A day tiring, but inspiring. Marilyn's slogans had really gone over. Now Marilyn and Kathie were back in the apartment again, dressing for dinner. Bruce Gordon had included Kathie in his invitation and was bringing Jim Martin for a foursome. The buzzer interrupted intensive primping. Marilyn opened the door to Al Martino.

"Al, you rogue, why didn't you let us know you were coming? The fatted calf has been eating us out of house and home waiting for you. Now you're here, we'll kill the beast. When did you get in?"

"Today, noon. My favorite piece of the calf is the 'moo.' I got here as fast as my two legs and a chain of taxis would carry me. Sorry to be the bearer of tidings that may shock you, Duchess, but you've got to know sometime. So here goes. And look at it like this: the best news we've had since Millville came to the Big Town. Duchess, Blondie has taken a run-out powder on us. I got it from two of our Metropole scouts who've been trailing her. She put on a big act in the Blue Parrot last night a jealous fit over some past sweetie of Herman Hess who she claimed was trying to charm him away from her. They tell me it was the battle of the century. She panicked Herman. She scared him so he offered her a thousand dollars cash and a ticket to any place she'd go, the farther the better. Blondie accepted the challenge, the thousand and the one-way ticket. She's on her way to Hollywood, the air way."

* * *

Marilyn was waiting in the apartment with Kathie and Al for Bruce Gordon. She was going to Millville to break the news of Clara's Hollywood flight to Mums and Dad. Clara had not communicated with them, although a week had passed since her sordid exit from the Blue Parrot. Marilyn knew, because last night she had called her home, ostensibly to say hello and to tell Bill that if he didn't stop having birthdays he'd be a grown man before she caught up with him again. Bill was all enthusiasm about his birthday "boodle." The once shabby gray home, now a brave white, seemed peaceful enough. There was none of the clamor and maternal lamentations, which would have been going on a pace had word of Clara's latest folly reached Mums Marsh.

DISCUSS YEAR'S PLANS AT ART STUDY PICNIC

Opening Session of Fall Scheduled Early In October; Autumn Guest Party, Christmas Affair Featured.

MEMBERS of the Art Study club picnicked yesterday and chatted about the recently distributed club books which tell plans for the coming season. The attractive maroon-covered booklet lettered in black reveals that the opening session of the year will be a dessert luncheon Oct. 4 at which members will display dolls.

Hostesses for the event are Miss Lillian Dickson, Mrs. Harvey Lanehart, Mrs. Leonard Nigh, Mrs. George Moore, Miss Henrietta Frank and Mrs. Ralph Race.

Meetings will continue throughout the season at two week intervals with a variety of programs planned both for member participation, and including a number of social attractions.

The group will give a guest party at the Mansfield Leland ballroom Nov. 15 with Mrs. Boyd Wierman in charge of the program called "Living Pictures." The hostesses will be the officers and program committee including Mrs. Race, president; Mrs. Harvey Lanehart, vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Richard Fensch, secretary, and Mrs. Ray Hammer, treasurer, and Mrs. Nigh, Miss Frank and Mrs. Moore, members of the program committee.

In December the club will have a Christmas party at the Women's Club with Mrs. Herman Homberger, Mrs. Andrew Thoiss and Mrs. George Cairns as hostesses. Programs throughout the winter will be presented by the various members.

Late in April the group will hold the annual meeting, and elect officers at a luncheon at the Women's Club, while a picnic is scheduled for August of next year also.

There were 27 present yesterday at the noon picnic at South park. Miss Dorothy L. Landers and Miss Helen Buchan were guests. Mrs. Lanehart spoke briefly on the program plans for the year.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

TAKING everything into consideration, Lake Erie seems to be as popular a vacation spot with Mansfielders as any other place on record this summer. . . . Maxine Jones, Thelma Reed, Doris Mann, Helen Bein, Helen Widders, Helen Lorow and Sarah Catherine Wallace have a cottage at Mittiwanga this week, while Marjorie Crabbe, Martha Phillipon, Irma Stevens and Mrs. Louis Letizia returned just the other day from a sojourn at the lake.

Marianne

* * *

Not sailing the seven seas, but the Great Lakes instead, are four Mansfielders. . . . Mr. and Mrs. S. Glenn Vinson and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hill are enjoying a freighter trip. . . . They drove up to Ashtabula about the middle of this week and boarded the freighter, Craft, as guests of the Inter-Lake Iron company. . . . They plan to be gone for about ten days, sailing as far as Duluth, Minn.

* * *

Charles Kenny is really seeing the country this summer. . . . No sooner had he returned from a trip east with a group of Eagle Scouts, accompanied by Floyd Dent (these travels took him to New York City, Philadelphia, Pa., and Washington, D. C.), than he left for a 17-day tour of the west. . . . Charles has gone out with Frank Yarger—who's driving his niece, Ruth Stahl; his nephew, Max Stichler, and Minnie Pommert of Caledonia through the western states. . . . They intend to stop off at Yellowstone National park, Salt Lake City, Utah, the Black Hills, Pike's Peak and Denver, Col., before coming back home.

* * *

The morning mail brought with it a card from Margaret Rizer, Dorothy Cronister and Marjorie Biedelschies, who are spending this week in New York City seeing the world fair. . . . While there, they're staying at the Hotel Governor Clinton. . . . Also vacationing this week are Naomi Crider and Grace Snider. . . . They drove to the Smoky mountains and Washington, D. C.—accompanied by two other young women from Columbus. . . . And Mr. and Mrs. Carl Phillipon are in Michigan on a fishing trip.

* * *

MRS. HOMER SPRIGGINS has just returned from Washington, D. C., where she was spending several days visiting her son, James, who has been there since last November with the marines. . . . A graduate of Madison high school, James now is secretary to R. J. Mitchell, director of aviation in Washington, and formerly he was stationed with the marines at Quantico, Va., 30 miles south of the capital. . . . Mrs. Spriggins' daughter, Alvina, and Fred Rader accompanied her on the trip.

* * *

All the fish of northern Michigan aspiring to long life had best take care these next ten days, as six Mansfielders are going to descend upon them well armed with all kinds of equipment for catching them. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Channell and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ingraham are leaving this evening for Cedarville, Mich., near the Sault, where they'll vacation until Labor day.

* * *

ALSO in Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Newell and their son, Lyman. . . . They've gone up to the northern state so that Mrs. Newell can recuperate from a long illness. . . . And, incidentally, young Lyman is doing quite a bit of traveling this summer prior to this trip he was in Cleveland, Lakewood and West Gun lake, Michigan, visiting relatives.

* * *

RECENT out-of-town guests in the city were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duncan, their family and their nephew, Ross Duncan, all of Mifflin, Pa. . . . They were here to see their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Duncan, and have just returned to their own home in the east.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Jameson have just come back from a Canadian fishing trip. . . . They motored up to a spot north of Toronto for fishing, and then stopped off at the Thousand Islands, the Alleghenies and Adirondacks on the way home, after having been gone three weeks. . . . Mrs. H. N. Kroegher had an important long-distance phone call from New York City last evening, her ten-year-old daughter, Joanie, called to tell her that she and her father had arrived there safely. . . . It was the young lady's first trip to New York, and she and Mr. Kroegher were there by plane from Cleveland and plan to stay for several days.

ENTERTAINS CLUB.

There were 16 members and guests at the Busy Wives club picnic supper yesterday at the home of Mrs. Roy Hess and Mrs. Henry Accurtius, Hess, Mifflin township, yesterday.

The guests were Mrs. Jay Fowler, Jr., and Mrs. R. L. Fowler, 16 Fauser and Miss Mary Hess. . . . Mrs. [illegible] entertained by playing the [illegible] L. S. Hoot completed the business [illegible] Mansfield today after a brief session, and invited the club [illegible] in Bradford, Pa.

At each meeting during the year a program on current events will be given by two members in addition to a variety of general subjects including book reviews, history, movies, parks, famous women in Ohio, and outstanding singers.

Concluding the season will be the bridge luncheon on March 5. The program for the year was arranged by Mrs. C. A. Sullens assisted by Mrs. L. A. Ott and Mrs. Neil E. Remy. Officers are Mrs. G. E. Holland, president; Mrs. O. H. Schettler, vice president, and Mrs. W. H. Burleson, secretary.

Memory Can Be Trained

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

MEMORY can be trained. I used that statement as the average person uses it. If I wished to be highbrow, I would say, "memory can't be trained, but methods of memorizing can." For you and me and the millions of other John and Mary Does, it's all the same.

I was a graduate student at Columbia university, working for my doctor's degree in psychology at the time when many experiments were being conducted there and elsewhere, which indicated that "memory cannot be trained," and I was one of the guinea pigs for some of these experiments. The investigators found, for example, that practice at memorizing meaningless syllables did not contribute much, if any, improvement at memorizing prose or poetry, or vice-versa.

They also found that ease at memorizing one kind of material might not always go along with ease at memorizing other kinds of materials. They concluded that a person has memories rather than a memory, though more often than not the person good in one type was found good in another. They also found in line with other psychological studies (and commonsense), that one person differs widely from another in ability to memorize and retain, and that every one has his own limits in these directions.

Effort Does It

But no one has proved that with sufficient effort and practice any person will not improve his skill at memorizing any particular kind of material. Rather, the published evidences seem to indicate strongly that one can improve one's efficiency at memorizing considerably, if one works hard and long enough at doing so. Wonderful how common sense does prevail!

Do you suppose the actor who must continually commit lines to memory finds the task as difficult now as he did when he memorized his first lines (provided he is under fifty)? Or the preacher who memorizes the sermons he has written, finds it as hard to do as when he memorized the first few? Does the medical student or student of law and engineering who must learn by heart many facts and symbols find this task as arduous at the end of the third year as at the beginning of the first?

Not Tough.

The tragedy of modern education is that the young child neither at home, school, or Sunday school is encouraged to learn anything by heart, at the very age when he could be induced to do so most willingly, and be least hampered by distracting tasks. I wish children in the elementary school were encouraged, not coerced, to memorize more facts, symbols and literary gems (which, of course, are worth memorizing). I wish students did not have to wait till they reached high school to learn to bone. Some, indeed, have failed to reach or finish high school or college because they had never learned the art of boning.

A page of "Tips to Students," and a list of books on "How to study effectively," may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three cent stamp on it.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Oh! what has happened?" I exclaimed almost before the headmaster had finished speaking.

But to myself I wailed "Oh! what has Hank done?"

Over my shoulder came a hand, Lillian's, covering the mouthpiece of the telephone, and another hand, Katherine's, gripped my shoulder with comfort and encouragement in its touch.

"Do you want me to take the 'phone?" Lillian whispered.

I shook my head, and she promptly removed her hand from the mouthpiece with instant comprehension of my wish to face whatever bad news was coming.

An Epidemic.

Then came relief, blessed, unexpected.

"Nothing has happened, yet," the head master said. "But an epidemic of scarlet fever is raging in the town."

My fear for the boys I had mothered so long leaped to another conjecture.

"Bill and Hank," I faltered.

"Are they—?"

"No," Dr. Ward said emphatically, and something in his tone told me that he was controlling his impatience with difficulty, and wished most heartily that my husband, not I, had answered the telephone.

"There are no cases in the school as yet," he went on—"if there were, we should have to keep the boys in quarantine—but we have learned that one of our employees who does not live in the building has a case in her family, and although she has not been here for several days, and does not come into contact with the students at all, yet the health authorities have advised us to close the school at once. I beg your pardon. I did not catch that. What did you say?"

I could not tell him that I inadvertently had murmurmed "Thank Heavens!" at his news.

"I think you have made a wise decision," I said, as if I were repeating my own words. "What time will the boys' train reach New York?"

Home for the Boys.

He told me, and added a worried query.

"Will they be able to get home from there tonight?" he asked. make satisfactory arrangements

"No, but we shall be able to for them in the city until we can get them home." I told him.

"That is fine," he said. "I wish all arrangements for the boys could be so simplified."

"May I tell you how sorry I am for you?" I said with sincerity. "It is a tremendous problem you are facing."

"Thank you. You are right—it is," he said. "But it would be a worse one if the school were quarantined."

"I can well imagine that," I said, and was sorry the next instant that I had delayed him with the banality, for his next utterance was a crisp query which subtly forbade any unnecessary delaying speech.

"Would you like to speak to William and Henry?" he said. "I have them here, thinking you might want to give them instructions for the journey."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Aug. 24.

Despite some tenacious obstacles or limitations, judging by favorable offsetting planetary factors, there should be a definite march upon ambitious goals on this day. This by taking heed of congested or crystallized situations, probably by forceful measures, aggressive tactics and the cooperation of those in power with a friendly desire to be of assistance. Be wary as to traps and duplicity. Social, domestic and affectional relations are pleasant.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of definite progress and the fulfillment of high ambitions, although there may be impediments and difficulties to dispose of. This may be accomplished by friendly assistance from those in power who are impressed by the soundess and practicability of propositions submitted to them. Hard work should tell. There may be happy and propitious conditions in the purely personal life, where friendship is important.

A child born on this day should be steady, industrious and ambitious, and make a success of its affairs despite obstacles and handicaps. Its personal affability, dependability and good nature would make for much popularity.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THEY HAVE THEIR VALUE

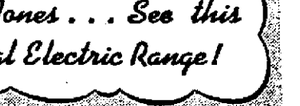
If you are opposed to a vulnerable player who refuses to be shut out by a high pre-emptive bid in a suit, you can sometimes lure him into presenting you a general gift by tempting his weakness. If your hand contains pretty good defensive or high-card values, enough to justify a bid of one, pre-empting will seldom pay you. It usually will crowd your own side and do more damage to your side than to your opponents. But when you face one of those follows who always acts over a pre-empt, Old Man Psychology is on the job.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| 4♥ | 4♠ | Dbl | |

South is always making bids like that one, and East knew it. Probably South is incurable, as he hates pre-emptive bids and advises everybody never to make them. So everybody wise to his weakness looks for chances to prey upon him. Any sound player would pass the 4-Hearts, but not this poor chap. He simply just can't let a successful pre-empt go by and perhaps beat his side out of game, since that would show up his theory.

West led the heart J, which South ruffed with the spade 2. He then led his two high spades and switched to a club. West split his honors and the A won. South next led to the diamond A and offered a second club. West roared in with the K, cashed his two high spades and led a heart, so that East took the rest of the tricks, setting the contract five.

East could have made his heart game by ruffing a third diamond and finessing trumps, but what is a mere game as against a gift of 1,400 points.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

After West leads the club K to the A, East playing the deuce, and then wins the returned diamond to the K with his A, what should he try in a desperate effort to beat the contract?

TREASURER GETS KIND OF MAIL WE ALL WOULD LIKE

Huge Stack of Letters on His Desk Spell Dollars In Taxes for County.

County Treasurer John E. Kolb likes to get letters with checks enclosed, just like anybody else, and he probably gets more of them than anyone else in the county.

He had a huge stack of them on his desk today and without opening them he knew they contained hundreds of dollars in real estate tax payments.

A smaller stack of letters and some late "in person" payments yesterday produced approximately $15,000 to boost the receipts for the last half payment period to more than $563,000.

The stack of unopened mail, some of which arrived several days ago, was expected to bring the collection to a higher mark by tonight.

Before he quits finding checks in his mail and receiving delayed payments for the collection period which ended last Tuesday, Kolb believes he will have collected more than $600,000 to pay the bills of the county and its sub-divisions for the rest of the year.

Collections are already $62,000 ahead of the same time last year and the 1939 receipts were better than average.

He is convinced that the new practice of sending statements to property owners had as much to do with the increase as anything else. A part of the gain, however, he attributes to better economic conditions.

Included in the total payments for the last half of the year are scores of "installments" on delinquencies which the county started accepting about three years ago.

Under a state law, property owners who were unable to pay their taxes during the depression years are entitled to make payments at intervals without risk of losing their properties by foreclosure.

50 CENTS WINS LOT

MARYSVILLE, Kas. — (U.P.) — Miss Winifred Lundblade offered 50 cents as an opening bid for a lot being auctioned in a tax-lien sale at Blue Rapids, Kas. She got the lot at that price when there were no other bidders.

PUMPKIN MILK

NEWARK, O.—(U.P.)—Tom and Wilford Powell, Licking county brothers, have a 61-pound milk-fed pumpkin which they are "fattening up" for the Ohio State Fair. They expect the two-quarts-a-day diet of this big one will give it a weight of at least 100 pounds by fair time.

Widow of Crash Victim Files Suit in County Court.

A fatal traffic accident last June 22 at the intersection of East Second street and Franklin avenue was the basis today for a $25,000 damage suit filed in Richland county common pleas court against George Reichert and the Service Cab company.

The action was started by Mrs. Charlotte Hayes, 41 Cleveland avenue, widow of Willard F. Hayes, who was fatally injured when his car figured in a crash with a taxi owned by the defendant.

Mrs. Hayes contends in her petition that the driver of the taxi, Stewart J. Alpin, was driving carelessly and at excessive speed when the accident occurred. Hayes was the father of four small children.

Mrs. Hayes is represented in her action by Attys. John L. Catlett and Robert L. Culbertson.
